	regation of duties
a.	a. Verify that no person who is an authorized signer on any of the church's bank or investment accounts (or otherwise has any authority or ability to disburse church funds) has any ability to post entries to or modify account balances or financial reports, including payroll records.
	(Note – it is very common for smaller churches that have never formally addressed internal controls to have one person in charge of all things financial. When one person has both control over funds and the accounting responsibilities for those funds, there is an elevated risk that financial misappropriation – if it were to occur – could go undetected. Having proper segregation of duties in this area not only protects the church, it protects the reputations of the people involved. More information about internal control and proper segregation of duties is available in the book Church Finance – more information about the book can be found on the website referenced at the top of this checklist.)
